

KEIO TO PUT UP GREAT GAMES

The Keio team has arrived and now the baseball fans will have a chance of seeing some rattling good games played at the Athletic Park.

The fans are guessing which of the Honolulu teams will be able to defeat the clever Japanese university team. Some say the Chinese team should turn the trick on the Nipponese, while others believe the Hawaii team will be the only ones who can turn the tables on the Keios. There are still a few who believe that if the Saints played the full nine innings last Sunday against the Keio nine, they would have come out ahead.

It remains to be seen whether either of the teams can defeat the Keio nine. The Stars and P. A. C. are not saying much over the prospects of their defeating the university team, but are practicing hard on the quiet.

There will be a double-header Saturday, when the Stars back up against the St. Louis boys and the Keio nine will have its first real game with the champion Hawaii nine.

The Keios are much superior to the Wandas, who were here last year, and this means that the home team will have to go some in order to keep up with the Nipponese.

The Keio nine will meet each of the teams in the Oahu League twice, with the exception of the J. A. C., who will cross bats with them only once.

The boxing matches at Waialua last Saturday were all good events. Yak Man and Masara went four rounds to a draw. The second preliminary resulted in Correa getting the decision over Iphigee, who hurt his hand in the third round. De Mello and Ingalls, the Coast lad, who fought the main bout, went the full ten rounds, Ingalls got the decision. He is a clever boxer and showed that he could beat De Mello in spite of the latter's heavy weight.

Johnny Williams, the local boy, is a goodly but surely making good in the Northwestern League, where he was turned from the Coast League. He is with a full-end team, Victoria, but has pitched well, although he has a tendency to slow up after going fast for a few innings.

Five horses have been located at Lawrence, Mass., which, it is alleged, were stolen in Providence, Pawtucket and Cranston, R. I., by Louis Conlon.

KEIO BASEBALL TEAM

The Keio baseball team has had a successful trip through the States and is now here to play a series of games with the Oahu League teams. They are determined to win every game and the home teams will need to be on the alert all the time in order to prevent the Keio bunch from getting round the bases.

There are eight members of the Keio team which visited Honolulu before, still with the team now. Five other players who were here with the crowd in 1909 are not with the team this year. The eight that are here at the present time are Sasaki, who played at shortstop yesterday; Koyama, who was in right field; Goto, who still holds down first sack; Sugase, who pitched a splendid game against the Saints; Higo, who was put out of play when Burns came in contact with him on second yesterday; Kanki, the comical player on second, and Ohaski, who was on the bench in yesterday's game. Among the new players this year are Takahama, who played in center field; Narazaki, who held down left field for a while, and Ishikawa, who played the same position for three innings.

KEIO TO PLAY EACH TEAM TWICE

The Keio baseball team will play eight games in the special series arranged by the Oahu League. Outside of this schedule, the Keio nine will meet the Chinese team three times, all three games to be played on Wednesday.

The schedule for the whole series is as follows:

July 9—J. A. C. vs. Stars; P. A. C. vs. Keio.
July 12—Chinese vs. Keio.
July 15—P. A. C. vs. Hawaii; Stars vs. Keio.

KAHUKU BEAT WAIALEE TEAM

The much-talked-of game between the Boys' Industrial School nine and the crack Kaawa baseball team did not take place on the Fourth of July as scheduled.

The Kaawa team is said to have developed cold feet, knowing that the Waialeale team was a strong bunch to back up against. The Waialeale team was disappointed in a way, but it happened that the Kahuku team came along, and they trimmed the home team by 2 to 1 after a very exciting game. The game was a dandy all through, and the rooters were on their feet all the time.

The Waialeales made two bad errors during the match, which were responsible for the three runs. Both pitchers were on the job all the time, and each did some fine work. Chamberlain, who pitched for the Waialeale team, struck out ten men, while Katenohl, who twirled for the Kahuku nine, sent seven men to the bench.

A return match is being arranged to take place in the near future. It should draw a big crowd.

JEFF AND JACK MEET IN BIG LONDON CAFE

LONDON, June 24.—Jim Jeffries and Jack Johnson met accidentally in the Trocadero restaurant last night. The meeting of the former ring-side antagonists created a sensation among the diners, who seemed for a moment to fear a renewal of the Reno hostilities. Jeffries, who had just arrived from Carlsbad, where he had been taking the waters, was dining with his wife and several friends, including Walter Kelly, the "Virginia Judge," when Johnson entered.

The fighters saw each other, but Jeffries glared stonily in the other direction and refused to recognize Johnson. The noise of the gay restaurant immediately ceased. Johnson, however, avoided a scene. With his wife, scintillating with diamonds, he passed Jeffries and took a table at the further side of the room. Jeffries appeared highly uncomfortable and hastily finished his meal and departed, leaving Johnson laughing over his wins.

KEIO WINS LAST GAME ON COAST

The baseball fans may be interested in the following account of the last game played by the Keios before leaving the Bay City for Honolulu. The Chronicle of June 28 has this to say of the game:

The Keio University baseball team brought its tour of America to an auspicious ending yesterday by defeating the United States Naval Training Station team at Goat Island by the score of 6 to 3. The little brown men played splendid ball and outclassed their opponents both at bat and in the field. The victory was deserved and decisive.

The Keio players went into the lead in the very first session, when three runners were sent across the plate, and the Naval Training team were never able to tie the score. Sugase, the star slasher of the Japanese aggregation, went to the mound for the brown men in the beginning of the game, but retired after the second inning, pleading a sore arm, and was replaced by Ishikawa. Sugase, who is the largest player on the team, displayed good form while he was in action and his smaller successor proved effective in holding the opposing batters safe at critical times.

Before Pitcher Overland had fairly warmed up in the first inning the Japs got to his delivery for two hits, which, with a walk and a fielder's choice gave the brown men three runs.

The losers were unable to score in the first session, but made good in both the second and third stanzas, putting a hole, tally across in each, the second run being the result of a home-run drive to left by Berger.

Overland pitched steady ball from the first inning on, but in the sixth frame his support went back on him and the Japs scored their three final tallies, mainly as the result of four infield errors. Errors by Chase and Wooster and a fielder's choice allowed the first tally across, while a two-sacker to center field brought in the remaining two tallies.

It looked as though the sailors would prove dangerous in the eighth session, when they got to Ishikawa for two hits, but the rally stopped after one run had been scored.

HARVARD WINS BOTH GAMES

The first annual commencement game between Harvard and Yale took place at New Haven on Tuesday, June 18. This was the first time since 1903 that Harvard had beaten her opponent. In the fifth Reilly of Yale was out on a fly to Halson. McKee singled and Merritt singled. Then Burdett singled, but quick fielding prevented a score. The bases were filled with one out. Hartwell sent a fly to Desha, who made a quick catch and threw to Potter, and Yale was retired.

Jack Desha was at short during this match and played a fine game. The Harvard nine also won the second match against Yale, 4 to 1, at Cambridge.

Jack Desha played at short in this game also and made a record for himself. He was also good at the bat. Honolulu, and especially Oahu College, can be proud of one of her boys making good on the Harvard baseball team, which is an honor any player should be proud of.
